

The annual Common Place Love In Action Award that recognizes a person or persons working to eliminate the root causes of poverty and social injustice in our community.

Nominees will be considered from the areas of justice, community organizing, neighborhood development/stabilization, education, or literacy. Involvement may be in a single effort or broader efforts over a period of years and may be in a volunteer or professional capacity.

The first Common Place Love In Action Award was presented to Nancy Rakoff in 2007 in recognition of her 39 years of service to Common Place and the community.
